About the Film: “THROUGH MY EYES” looks at Rwandan youth in the aftermath of the genocide and is an expression of the youth of Rwanda to overcome their darkest history through art, music, and dance. The film documents Rwandan youth’s vision of and hope for a better future.

About Eric Kabera: Since 1994, Eric has run Link Media Production company in Rwanda whose production credits range from the first feature length film on the Rwandan genocide "100 Days" to multiple documentaries and shorts specializing on the Great Lakes region of Rwanda. He founded the Rwanda Cinema Centre (RCC) to train young filmmakers and facilitate filmmaking in Rwanda.

About Global Youth Connect: GYC is working to build and support a community of youth who are actively promoting and protecting human rights, and to educate and inspire the next generation to work for peaceful change. GYC is currently working in collaboration with many youth and organizations around the world, including in the U.S., Rwanda, Cambodia, Bosnia and Guatemala, to realize this vision.
