

Advanced Training in Inclusive Leadership

Summer Institute August 13-17, 2007

Experience our unique combination of participatory diversity education, leadership development, and intergenerational community-building.

Meet people from diverse backgrounds who are passionate about diversity, social responsibility and the potential of youth and adults working together to change the world.

- educators, youth workers, and other professionals
- community organizers, facilitators, mentors and volunteers
- mature youth and young adults who have previous training and experience in peer support, leadership and/or diversity issues

Expand your own leadership skills for Connecting With Differences, Communicating With Compassion and applying Anti-Discrimination First-Aid when needed.

Learn the Building Bridges steps of networking, gathering, building relationships, building skills, building community, action planning, and follow-up.

Participate in dozens of great activities you can take back to groups you facilitate.

Co-facilitated by Dr. Linda Hill (Cowichan Intercultural Society), Raj Gill (Prosperity Circles Coaching), and Kim (Kxx) Citton (REALDEAL Training and Consulting) with support from trained and experienced interns.

Get set to become an Inclusive Travel Guide who is fully prepared to travel through diverse communities with a back-pack full of skills, plans, and resources for guiding children, youth, families and communities to:

- Replace instinctive fight/flight reactions with interest in exploring, sharing and celebrating differences.
- Transform bully-victim-bystander triangles into circles of safety, respect, positive choices and fun.
- Share leadership in the challenges of building a safer, more respectful world full of equality, choice and shared laughter – starting with our own families, friends, neighbourhoods, schools and communities.
